

Combined International Corporation

707 COMBINED CENTRE • NORTHBROOK, ILLINOIS 60062 • PHONE (312) 564-8000

W. CLEMENT STONE - CHAIRMAN

CLEMENT STONE - PRESIDENT & CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

July 14, 1982

The Honorable Robert C. McFarlane
Deputy Director
National Security Council
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Bud:

Knowing these are quite hectic times for you and Bill Clark, I hesitate to create an additional burden. However, if my memory is correct and the procedures haven't changed dramatically, it would be a quite simple task.

Next week, W. Clement Stone, as the Chairman of the Board of Trustees for the International Council on Education for Teaching, will chair their 1982 World Assembly in Rome from July 20th to 24th. Should you not be familiar with the Council, it plays a leading role in providing an international forum for the discussion of vital issues to the world's educational systems. In fact, there will be approximately 300 delegates in attendance from around the world with approximately 60 leading educators from the United States.

Over the years Mr. Stone has known both Ambassador Max Rabb through their joint efforts with the Republican National Finance Committee and Ambassador William Wilson when they served together on Governor Reagan's Executive Advisory Committee during the 1980 campaign. It would be quite meaningful to Mr. Stone if it would be possible for him to pay a courtesy call individually on the Ambassadors during his stay in Rome.

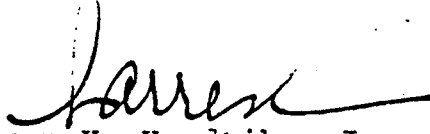

Because of the shortness of time and with your unlimited communications facilities with our posts overseas, would it be possible to convey this request to the Ambassadors? If this is helpful, Mr. Stone will be staying at the Villa Pamphili in Rome.

THE HONORABLE ROBERT C. MCFARLANE
July 14, 1982
Page Two

My thanks for your help. I hope I'll have the opportunity to reciprocate again sometime.

Keep up the good work.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "Warren", with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

Warren K. Hendriks, Jr.
Vice President and Director of Public Affairs & Advertising

/sn